Mr. Toepfer DEDICA

Mr. Toepfer is the real spirit booster at our school. You can always bet that if our school is involved in an athletic event or school activity, Mr. Toepfer will be there rooting for us. It's not everyday that you'll find someone to stay after school to make sure you smooth out your rough edges in math. Mr. Toepfer is a person like that. Not everyone is full of the exciting history that Mr. Toepfer has experienced. Many a story has been told to M-O students over the years. So, Mr. Toepfer, we want to say thank you for sharing this little bit of yourself with us.

TION Mrs. Resneder

When we think of grade school, many of us remember books, recesses, and friends. Finally, when we reach high school, we realize the memories our grade school teachers have left with us — memories that we will cherish for a lifetime.

Mrs. Resneder is one of those teachers with a special touch that has helped over 200 students at M-O. So, Mrs. Resneder, we will try to repay some of those memories you gave us by the Yearbook Dedication of 1980.

Mrs. Kathy Sutterfield and the F.H.A. girls were packed and ready to go to the state rally the first weekend in April, 1979. Marty Henke, our faithful companion and bus driver, drove us there. All the girls, including Kenda, Deanna, Desiree, and Tena enjoyed swimming while they stayed at the Hilton Inn.

Our new adviser for 1979-80, Mrs. Charese Nelson, and ten of the members grabbed a coke after the sub-district rally at Garber in September.

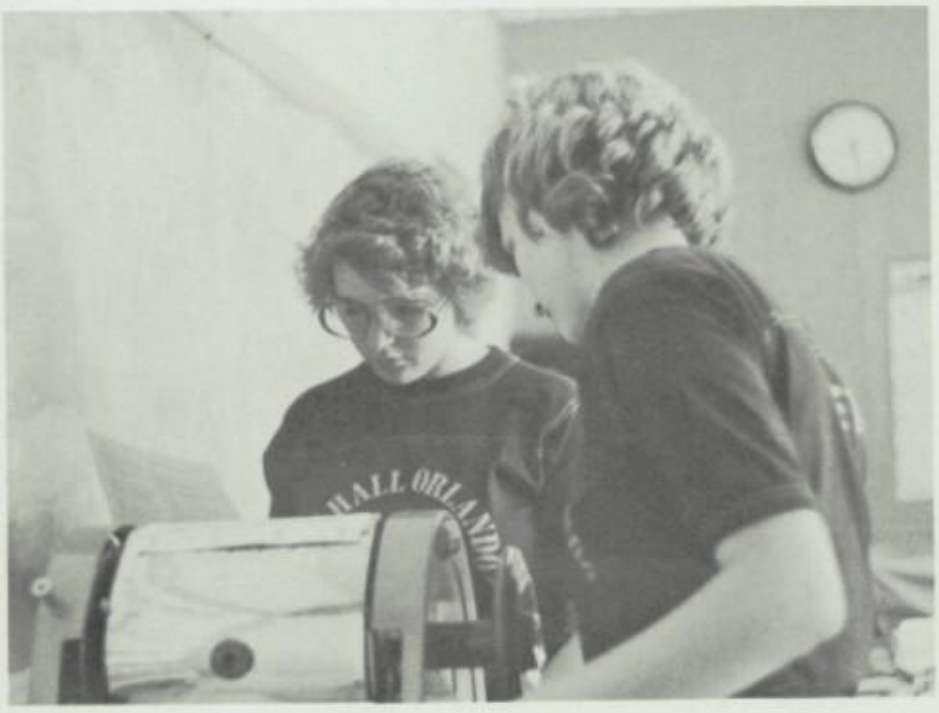
A BRIEF



ENCOUNTER WITH

THE YEARBOOK STAFF

Let's touch in on the staff in the field: Mel McNeil, Jackie Pfeiffer, Todd Harris, Carol McPeek, Kenda Klingaman, Mrs. White, Luke Lough, Janet Ritter, Leslie Hunnicutt, Tammi Walton, Tena Jones, and Neda Endevoets. In another part of time in this tight schedule we run we find Jackie and Janet working on the school newspaper, PANTHER PRIDE. For a night on the town we go to the rink for a little ice skating with Mel at the yearbook party. Finally, we go back to the hustle and bustle of fourth hour to take a peek at Tammi, who is trying to meet a yearbook deadline.

STEPPING UP THE PACE IN THE SPRING

Each year, more and more oil wells are being drilled in our community since the increase in oil prices. This one is just east of the high school.

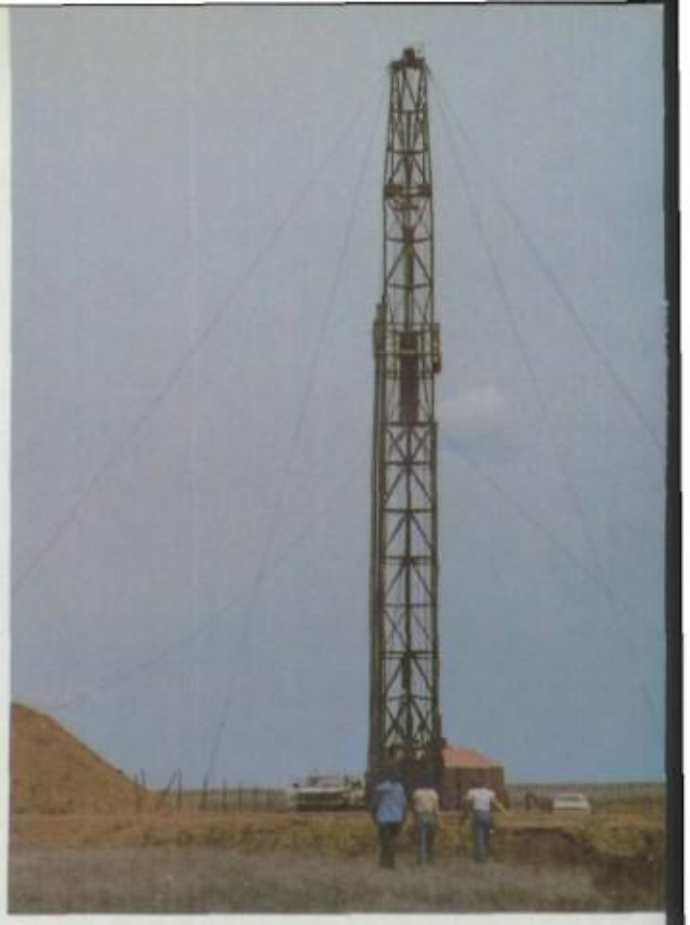
We discovered that with the energy crisis we really can't do anything that is not expensive, but our school manages to find something to do. In fact, every date on the calendar in the months of April and May, 1979, was scheduled. Here's a few examples of those events which kept us on the go.

Looks like Derek Mason and Andy Bowden really had a good time on their class party at Ken's in Stillwater.

At the FHA Grandmothers' Tea the girls met a lot of friendly grandmothers. As you can see, Leslie Hunnicutt brought her special friend, Lulu Pritchett. Elizabeth Kissner was a guest of Sue Brooker.

A tradition of the M-O communities which really lets the seniors know how special they are is the reception line on graduation night. Kim Uhrig, Roy Butler, and Dennis Prince were really nervous about leaving.

Luke Lough is decorating for the prom. Since he was class president, he assumed the responsibility of keeping things organized and making sure everything was ready on time.



Believe me, we do have some clowns like Desiree Bowden and Kevin Hafner. The M-O Get-Quik bought them at the FFA slave auction, and they slaved in costume at the grand opening.

It's about the time when the juniors get excited about becoming seniors. Carol McPeek, Leslie Hunnicutt, Bridget Hardeman, and Melanie McNeil are changing the rocks to "SR. 80" on the hill near Carol's home.

Dale Schoepflin, Teresa Donaldson, and Michelle Golay received awards from Mr. Harris for their perfect attendance records during the 1978-79 school year.

The yearbook class was just taking it easy for a change since they worked their hardest all year. Todd Harris, Mel McNeil, and Mrs. White have fun celebrating in the popular American custom — going out to eat in a restaurant that has atmosphere.

Track received more emphasis at M-O this spring, and the teams competed in several meets. Scott Bulling ran the 880 at Ripley.

ZOOMING IN FOR A CLOSER LOOK

As the camera zooms in for a closer look at grade school activities, we see Michael Fitzpatrick running for the finish line at a track meet at Carney.

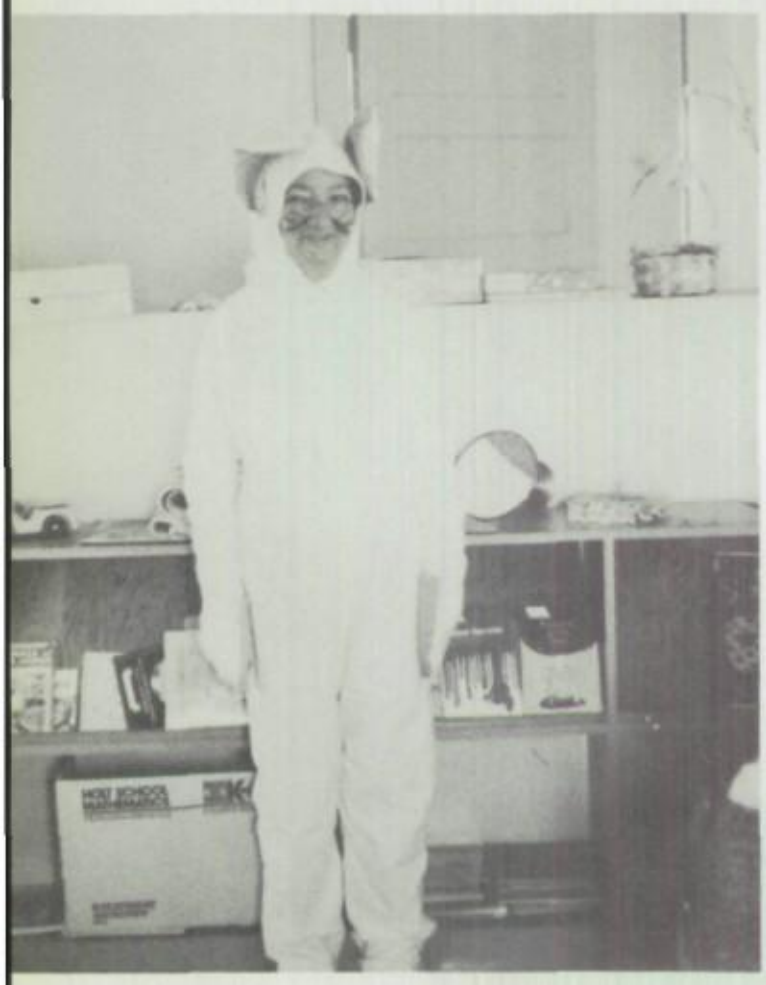
On the playground sixth graders Shelly Hopfer, Tonya Rothermel, Gina Koch, and Kelli Shafer look at the world from ... another point of view? Denise Rothermel enjoys the slide best during recess.

In the classroom Mrs. Resneder gets her reading groups ready for the upcoming year as they move another step closer to junior high school. The first and second graders must be enjoying Miss Prouty's classes because they are actually singing.

One of the good times for grade school kids is the end of the day. Donnie Clements and Junior Burgess are the only two we would catch on the way to the buses.

Graduation is the event that sixth graders look forward to the most. Shelly Shrum read the class history as her part of the program. Troy Redford felt honored to shake the hands of two of the graduates, Evan Redford and Samuel Kolb.

A tornado swept through M-O in the spring of 1979, tore up the school grounds at the grade school, and left the fences and trees in a mess.



Mrs. Roy Fitzpatrick really surprised the kindergarten when the Easter Rabbit showed up for their party.

PERFORMING IN THE FALL

Mrs. Shelton had a bad fall on some rocks. Later we found her burning all her high-heeled shoes.

The annual watermelon feast at Lake Carl Blackwell, sponsored by the M-O Lions Club, was enjoyed by the school staff, especially by Mr. Lorance and Mr. Harris.

While concentrating on winning her first trophy at the Tulsa State Fair, Valerie Hafner did her best exhibiting her heifer.

Earlier in the fall, Brenda and Amy Branen got their lamb ready for the local fair, where Shelia and Michael Frey competed against each other. Mikki Leach and Tracy Klingaman alsc gave each other a lot of competition as the judge looked over their Hereford steers.

Mike Gorrell checked over his boar and fed one of his baby pigs. This F.F.A. project takes up a lot of his time after school.

At the carnival Tammi Walton had her hands full trying to keep up with Mr. Harris and Mr. Johnson during the senior auction. Sandina Decker and David Kolb watched some of the grade school kids play on the freshman jail as they waited for others to come to their spook house.

STALKING BEHIND

M-O DOORS

As we enter one of the many doors of M-O High, we see Kathy Edgar participating in cheerleading tryouts. David Clements is trying to finish his woodshop project before school is out.

Jerry Kothe and his Mother enjoy themselves at the FFA banquet, one of the many special activities of the year. The FFA banquet is held annually in honor of the parents, members, and those who support the chapter throughout the year.

We would like to welcome the M-O Get-Quik to our community. This new business is managed by Bill Kennedy of Ripley, Oklahoma, and is located between Mulhall and Orlando at the 51-77 Intersection.

Now as we proceed through another door — the classroom door — we see Marsha McAnally, Lisa Richards, and Shelby Bay working away on their new garments in home economics class and Tom Nealis in the business math class.

On February 26, 1979, at 10:30 a.m., a 70 percent eclipse of the sun occurred. Mrs. Shelton and her eighth grade class observed the eclipse through a welding lens. Tammi Walton took the picture of the eclipse by holding the welding lens over the camera lens.

In the halls of M-O High we see another familiar sight — Jacquie Meyer, Nancy Atnip, Gina Schmiedbauer, Lavonna Wade, and Nina Prince rushing to their lockers between classes.

Tri-State Music Festival at Enid was a very exciting event last year. Nine M-O students participated in the Honor Chorus. They were Luke Lough, Todd Harris, Judy Shook, Terri Bircket, Kenda Klingaman, Lillian Matoy, Scott Bulling, Damon Yost, and Kathy Mason. Mike Gorrell was a member of the Honor Band.

CATCHING UP WITH THE SENIORS

When it comes to spirit, the Seniors really have it! They like to display the black and gold — as "Seniors of '80" in their black shirts or as M-O team boosters in the gold shirts which were sold by the cheerleaders. Here Debbie Prince and Leslie Hunnicutt cut up to show them off. That's Jimmy Dixon checking out the coffee pot in the concession stand.

With four Seniors on the girls basketball team — Mel McNeil, Jackie Pfeiffer, Janet Ritter, and Carol McPeek, — the Seniors have many opportunities to display the black and gold competitive spirit.

In the midst of all the fun Seniors have, they also plan for next year. Judy Shook gets assistance from Mrs. Villines about the O.S.U. Campus.

The 79-80 cheerleaders were Kathy Edgar, Janel Wiss, Deanna Hanna, Kenda Klingaman, and Desireé Bowden. The mascots were Marsha McAnally and Shelly Jones. They really kept the Panther spirit alive with the help and encouragement from their sponsor, Mimi Shelton. The cheerleaders performed a pompon routine to the tune of "Le Freak" at homecoming.

They also coordinated the homecoming coronation. Mrs. Lulu Pritchett painted the background for the theme they carried out — "Try to Remember," which was played by the M-O Band. All of the past queens were invited back and made a special part of the program.

Class competitions dominated the pep rallies this year. Each competition added up for points. The Juniors won at the end of the season with the most points. Mrs. Nelson, their sponsor, got a pie from Tracy Klingaman. J.D. Spaulding, Pam Henke, and Amy Branen hurry to reach the finish line in the gunny sack race. Janel Wiss and Paul Richards compete in passing a lifesaver with a toothpick. The freshman class achieved their goal as they reach the top of their pyramid.

Tena Jones (cheerleader for part of the season), Kenda Klingaman, Carol McPeek, and Jackie Pfeiffer show their spirit by shoe polishing the windows of their automobiles for homecoming week.

JR. HIGH AND GRADE SCHOOL BASKETBALL

Pam Henke jumps high for a tip off in the opening moments of a game against Sumner. Both the Jr. High and Grade school teams participated in this game held at the elementary gym.

Mr. Nelson puts Joey Fishburn in the game to score some points.

Wendi Harris takes good aim at the basket while Julie Fitzpatrick moves in for rebound position.

and Greg Duncan set up their defense.

The Jr. High boys set up their defense in a home game against Crescent, trying not to let their opponents score.
